

How-to: Turn on the Babies' Room Screen

Introduction

The "Babies' Room screen" is in the Babies' Room. This room is off the corridor which runs along the stage-left of the main auditorium. It is room nearest the back of the auditorium, next to the kitchen. This screen can be used to mirror the main screen or to display the stage camera feed.

Touch Screen

This screen can be turned on using the AMX touch-screen unit to the right of the iMac. Note that this screen relies on an infrared extender mounted on the screen, the AMX screen therefore will not receive any feedback from the screen so does not 'know' if it is switched on. The button on the touch screen will not change colour when the screen is switched on.

Remote Control

The infrared extender used to control this screen from the touchscreen easily becomes displaced, in this case it cannot be controlled this way. As an alternative, it can be controlled using the remote control which is usually located in the Babies' Room.
